

Decision Memo
North Tornado Cleanup
USDA Forest Service
Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area
Lyon County, Kentucky

Purpose and Need:

Through extensive remote sensing and ground surveys, we have identified approximately 3,000 acres of National Forest System lands affected by the tornado event which occurred in December 2021. The timber salvage project is needed to remove damaged trees within the affected stands. This will include fallen trees and standing damaged trees. The primary purpose for removing damaged trees is for public safety. Secondary benefits include stand resiliency against insects and disease and opening the forest canopy to let in sunlight, thus encouraging natural regeneration of the stands. A tertiary benefit of the project will also provide marketable timber for the local economy. The efforts are situated in the far north portion of LBLNRA in Lyon County, Kentucky.

Proposed Action:

Activities would include the following:

- Commercial timber salvage of up to 3,000 acres within the project area. We anticipate only harvesting damaged stands which have been identified within the affected area.
- Return the affected area to a safe condition for public use.

Authority

This project is categorically excluded from documentation in an EA or EIS because it fits the following category:

Applicable Category: Insect and Disease Infestation. Section 603 of HFRA (16 U.S.C.6591b) (FSH 1909.15, 32.3(5)) (DM Required)

Decision

I have decided to authorize the activities described in the proposed action, including any modifications that resulted from environmental analysis and review of legal and regulatory compliance.

I find that there are no issues which would warrant further analysis and documentation in an EA or EIS. I took into account resource conditions identified in agency procedures that should be considered in determining whether issues might exist:

- ◆ Federally listed threatened or endangered species or designated critical habitat, species proposed for Federal listing or proposed critical habitat, or Forest Service sensitive species – Based on a BA, the proposed project was found not to have significant negative effects to species found within the project area.
- ◆ Flood plains, wetlands, or municipal watersheds – Based on soil, watershed, and hydrologic review, there are no negative impacts anticipated from the proposed project.
- ◆ Congressionally designated areas such as wilderness, wilderness study areas, or national recreation areas – There are no Congressionally designated wilderness or wilderness study areas in LBLNRA.
- ◆ Inventoried roadless areas or potential wilderness areas – There are no roadless areas in LBLNRA.
- ◆ Research natural areas – No established Research Natural Areas exist within LBLNRA.
- ◆ American Indians and Alaska Native religious or cultural sites – Review of records along with tribal consultation show that any actions from the proposed project should not result in any significant degree of effect.
- ◆ Archaeological sites, or historic properties or areas – There are no known prehistoric heritage sites or historic Native American sites within the areas impacted by the tornados. There are some historic heritage sites within the impacted area. The locations of those known heritage sites have been sent to the team coordinating salvage clean-up. No significant degree of effect is anticipated from the proposed project.
